

The Truth of God By Greg Rangel

Every person that is alive, that will be alive, and that has been alive since the time of Christ will have an opinion regarding Jesus upon hearing His name. Some will willingly choose to believe in the Jesus of the Bible and believe that He is God, and some will choose to believe in another Jesus, a Jesus that is presented by their religious leaders as a lesser figure in one way or another. Some will willingly refuse to believe in the Jesus of the Bible or any Jesus at all.

Unfortunately for them, many will willingly refuse to believe in Jesus even though they are presented with the biblical facts, while many others will refuse to believe in Jesus by their own ignorance. But as we have seen in the previous articles, it is not a matter of that they can't believe, but willingly choose not to believe in Jesus.

But regardless of whose opinion it might be, regardless of whatever the skeptic might or might not say, and might or might not believe in, and regardless whether people like it or not, or agree with it or not, the facts do not change. JESUS IS STILL THE SECOND PERSON OF THE GODHEAD, as Scripture teaches. And Jesus is still the Savior of the world.

Jesus does not change or stops to exist because someone fails to believe in Him or because they believe something unbiblical about Him. Too often skeptics and atheists stop believing in the way they believed and begin to believe in Jesus. But does that mean that while they did not believe in Jesus but in their own opinions did Jesus not exist? And did Jesus come to exist and become true once the former skeptics and the former atheists came to believe? I don't think so. Jesus has always existed and has always been true, regardless if people fail to believe in Him.

Another point that I would like to make is that not everyone who says they believe in Jesus actually believes in Jesus of the Bible. Throughout Scripture we have warnings time and time again about the fact that there will be false prophets who bring in damnable heresies and doctrines of demons deceiving people with those beliefs.

Paul wrote in Act 20:28-31 "Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood. For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them. Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears."

This has indeed taken place. There has been and currently are people today that are sharing false Christ's with people. They have another Jesus that is not the Jesus of the Bible. Unfortunately people will disagree with this, saying that words like this are so negative, controversial, hateful and un-politically incorrect. Regardless, the fact still remains. There are false prophets that believe in a false Jesus, and are sharing such false Jesus. They are also sharing a false hope, a false faith, and a false way of salvation. The only true Jesus is the Jesus of the Bible.

Even though we have these warnings, people still have not taken heed to these warnings. There are many today that believe in a different Jesus. One that cannot save.

People are so quick to believe things about Jesus that are not found in Scripture. One thing that people have a distorted view about is on His divine nature. In our last article we made the point on the common argument that cults use to try to disprove the deity of Jesus and try to apply a lesser nature on His person. But Jesus will always remain the same, regardless what people might think about Him.

One cannot argue against the many Scriptures that teach us the true nature of Jesus. Even though the Scriptures are clear in what they are saying, people will still argue though once they have been indoctrinated through their religious group's interpretation. But we must remember that there is only one true Jesus. And that is the Jesus that is found in Scripture.
